OFFICE OF
ASSISTANT SECRETARY
FOR INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

March 20, 1974

Dear Mr. Yale;

We have reviewed your request for relief from the negative report provision of Treasury Transmittal Letter 89, which established a system of semiannual reports of short-term indebtedness of foreigners to U.S. Government agencies and corporations, including accounts receivable from foreign obligors. We understand that your agency does not have any credits or accounts receivable reportable under Transmittal Letter 89, and that you do not expect that any such reportable foreign indebtedness to your agency will arise in the future. Your agency is therefore relieved of the requirement to submit semiannual negative reports as long as these conditions exist.

Sincerely yours,

C. L. Callander

Dear Mr. Callander:

Department of the Treasury Transmittal Letter No. 89 established a semiannual reporting requirement for data on short-term foreign indebtedness to U.S. Government agencies and corporations, including accounts receivable from foreign obligors. This is to advise that the Central Intelligence Agency had no reportable amounts of such indebtedness as of 31 December 1973.

A review of our files indicates that financial transactions with foreigners, of the type reportable under Transmittal Letter No. 89 have been nonexistent. In light of this, it is requested that we be relieved from the requirement to submit negative reports.

Very truly yours,

DATE: February 11, 1974

FROM : C. L. Callander, Director

SUBJECT: Reports on Foreign Indebtedness to the United States Government

Department of the Treasury Transmittal Letter No. 89 established a semiannual reporting requirement for data on short-term foreign indebtedness to U.S. Government agencies and corporations, including accounts receivable from foreign obligors. We would like to remind your office that reports of such indebtedness are required within 45 days of June 30 and December 31 of each year, and that negative reports are required if an agency does not have any reportable amounts.

If a thorough review of your files indicates that financial transactions with foreigners are rare, relief from the requirement to submit negative reports will be considered upon receipt of an appropriate statement.
